PRESIDENT WILSON LANDS ON FRENCH SOIL; A GREAT CROWD GREETS EXECUTIVE

Sunlight Breaks Through Leaden Skies as Steamer George Washington Comes to Anchor; Imposing Spectacle is Witnessed as Fleet Rounds Capes and Moves Into Brest.

WILSON AND PARTY STEP ASHORE AT 2 O'CLOCK

By Associated Press

BREST Dec 13—2 P M—President Wilson has landed on French soil

BREST, Dec 13—President Wilson arrived in the harbor of Brest at 1 o clock this afternoon on board the steamer George Washington amid deafening salvos of artillery afloat and on shore

The arrival was the culmination of an imposing naval spectacle which began as the presidennal fleet rounded the outer capes then passed the entrance forts and moved majestically into the harbor where the George Washington anchored at the head of a long double column of American dreadnoughts and destroyers and the units of a French cruiser squadron

The presidential fleet was sighted at 11 30 o clock this morning 15 miles off shore The sea was calm and the stately fleet moved landward under skies which were steadily brightening after a dark and gloomy morning It was more than an hour later that the ships were signaled at the entrance of the harbor and a great cheer arose from the waiting crowd as the cloud of black smoke showed that the presidential fleet was near

BREST, Dec 13—President Wilson left Brest for Paris at 4 o clock this afternoon President Wilson's progress from the pier to his train was amidst a vociferous welcome from the throng in the streets

There was a thundering cannonade as the President s launch left the George Washington President Wilson came ashore with Mrs Wilson who carried an American flag and a boquet.

The President's ship moved into the harbor through lines formed by the battleships

The day s first ray of sunlight fell across the George Washington as she anchored when the huge reproduction of the Statue of Liberty on shore was brilliantly illuminated as the sun broke through the clouds

The French ministers and American officials boarded the George Washington at 1.20. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret Wilson As soon as they had gone aboard the George Washington preparations began for the President's landing.

The day broke dark and gloomy over Brest. Heavy clouds shut out sunshine and sky but the downpour of rain which prevailed yesterday abated during the night and the wind subsided to a gentle breeze blowing in from the sea. The avenues and terraces leading from the harbor are still drenched but an army of laborers has been clearing the mud from the route which President Wilson will cover and wind-torn decorations have been replaced with new ones

Within the harbor there is a scene of animation. A group of French cruisers in their war paint swung at anchorage with a score of American destroyers about them. Near at hand loomed the big liner La France used as a hospital ship, but about to resume her trans-Atlantic service. American destroyers, naval yachts and small craft glided about the harbor and further off lay the great flotillas of merchant ships transports freighters and quaint Breton fishing craft

Since early morning a fleet of airplanes has hovered over the entrance to the harbor keeping an outlook for the approaching fleet Early in the day French and American soldiers lined the streets and took assigned positions along the Cours Dajot, the handsome promenade leading from the commercial harbor to the city over which President Wilson will pass.

DEWEY MILLER'S HAIR NOT WHITE; JUST AS IT WAS

Member of 110th Medical Detachment Roundly Scores Person Who Spreads False Rumors.

Dewey Miller s hair has not turned white It retains its dark glossy appearance Dewey says so himself A letter to his mother Mrs Thomas E Miller roundly scores persons responsible for the circulation of such reports The letter was written November 13 in Paris It says

Today has been a wonderful day for me here in France for not only did hostilities cease today at 11 o clock but all France has gone almost mad for joy There is no more noise of munition plants nor the hum of motors for all is over and I thank God that Jimmie Mose and I as the rest of the fellows, have seen it through Not only that Mother today I received my mail—56 letters in all—from home I tell you I surely feel happy

Only certain things I cannot understand—those wild rumors that float over town about a fellow s hair being gray and all that stuff Those responsible should be sought out and punished You bet I had better not find out who it is or I ll go over the top once more Mother do not worry now I am still well and the same as when I left excepting that I have lost a little weight which I hope to gain before I get home As for the gas I do not think it will bother me any more although since I have been able to be up I have had a little setback But I feel well again So do not worry at all Just let people talk You will know first of all I have told you So do not listen to what those gossips say for they only cause one worry and trouble I am trying to find out who wrote that stuff If I do we will have a mixup right there

I have been very fortunate to be in Paris at the end and it is hard to tell or describe in a letter but I will tell you all when I get home

CORPORAL HOSACK WRITES OF ONE OF WAR'S BIG BATTLES

Grandson of Squire and Mrs. W. P. Clark Comes Through Without a Scratch.

BARRAGE PLAYS HAVOC

With the German Works, Says Member of 111th Infantry, Telling of the Almost Complete Destruction of a Most Elaborate System of Trenches.

In a letter to his parents Mr and Mrs George M Hosack 73a South Negley avenue Pittsburg dated October 11 1918 Corporal George M Hosack J Company K 111th Infantry (formerly the old 18th Pennsylvania) at last report sent to an officers training camp 10th Company A C S La Valbronne Aisne France says —

Have just returned from 10 days in the very front of one of the biggest battles of the war

It certainly is heaven to be back safely after coming through it and I surely have God to thank that I came through safely without a scratch and had some close shaves let me tell you A present I have two bullet holes in my breeches and one in my blouse

We came out of the line day before yesterday and got out of shell fire last night It seems great not to hear the big guns and to be ducking machine gun bullets

We went over the top the first time after a wonderful artillery barrage lasting all night The noise was terrific It was just one continual rumble and the sky was red with the flashes of the guns If I had not been through it I couldn t have believed the noise and the number of guns Words can t begin to describe it Such a picture of destruction it is impossible to imagine as was No Man s Land and the German trenches machine guns pill boxes barbed wire entanglements trees cheval de frise absolutely blown to bits and the ground itself piled with innumerable shell craters It was impossible to find 10 square feet of ground that was not filled with debris or shell craters It was a picture of destruction that would have made the very devil himself envious and you can imagine what the Boche thought of it It would have been a physical impossibility to cross No Man s Land had it not been for the barrage that destroyed defenses and practically every living thing The Boche trenches were absolutely destroyed in the front.

'As we advanced we met with some resistance principally machine guns Fritz had abandoned his lines leaving a few cannon and machine guns as sacrifices His trenches and dug outs were marvels of hard work Dugouts 80 feet deep and equipped with everything In one dugout entered we found a piano and hot coffee so you can see how close we were on his trail We also found a lot of oats As we hadn t very much to eat on account of our rapid advance we sure did pitch into them We found a regular ration dump A lot of the provisions must have been for officers We found bread hardtack butter wine champagne cigarets cigars etc so managed to scramble together a good mea

'As we kept advancing the resistance gradually increased, but we had Jerry on the run and we both knew it As it was we had a mighty hard sector to advance over on account of the terrain And we were continually harassed by hidden machine gun emplacements and snipers To make it worse Fritz was using explosive bullets These besides making a wicked wound made it very difficult to locate his guns hard enough to place at any time

On our advance we took a large number of prisoners They all were glad to be captured In fact one of them had stayed behind with all his equipment packed up in a dugout just waiting for us to come along to surrender He sure was a nervous and frightened German withal quite happy Our chaplain who is one of the finest men I ever knew took back one batch of prisoners It was quite funny All he had was a cigaret case He gave each one a cigaret and said come on boys When he got them back he fainted and was sent to the hospital But he refused to be left there so long as his boys were in the line If ever a man was loved it is Father Simoni of the 3rd battalion. He goes to the front with bullets zipping all around as unconcerned as if he were walking down Fifth avenue He is a wonder

Our boys were wonderful all through the fight—always ready for whatever came along regardless of the weather and it did rain for several days It wasn't very pleasant lying in a mere rifle pit for a couple of days with no blanket or tent But it was part of the game to beat Fritz so we bore it cheerfully But it surely was hell And we were greatly cheered by the news that Bulgaria had surrendered

Jerry lost a lot of men both killed and captured He played some dirty tricks too pretended to surrender and then threw potato mashers (as his hand grenades are called) However they didn't go back We accounted for them Whenever Jerry played square he got square treatment

If you see any of Floyd De Witt's people please tell them he died as a soldier should (leading his men over the top) He was the finest ever and every man in the company was broken up over his death There wasn't a better liked man in the outfit I helped to bury him and it was the hardest job of my life as he was my best friend He died as a man should

Sergeant De Witt was the son of Mrs J G Wisener 2330 Eldridge street Pittsburg

POST OFFICE IS PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

Persons who intend to mail Christmas gifts through the parcel post are advised by Assistant Postmaster Thomas B Hyatt to get the packages into the mails as soon as possible With a greater labor shortage this year than last it will be more difficult to handle the heavy postal traffic and if the terminal points become congested parcels may be held up for days before being delivered

Two extra carriers have been engaged and two more will probably be needed Extra members of the clerical force may be selected from persons taking the civil service examination on December 14

If the necessary room can be secured distributing points for parcel post packages may be established on the West Side and South Side which will facilitate delivery in the city This plan was successfully used last year

Cards urging the early mailing of Christmas parcels have been distributed among the stores of the city and they are prominently displayed

No preparations for the Christmas rush has yet been made by the express company Since the government took over the express companies Tom Lee Wells Fargo and Adams Express are under the same manager Express business already extremely heavy and for the last month a special express train has been coming over the South west branch of the Pennsylvania railroad as far as this city with express matter Extra help will be needed by the express company while the real Christmas rush is on and it is going to be hard to handle the work

Dr. Marsh, who was known to a number of Scottdale people before his lecture, won for himself many friends by the manner in which he told the story of his work among the boys over there. The lecture was brimful of humor and had much pathos, leaving the horrible things of the war out. Rev. Brown, pastor of the church, presided, and after singing "America," Rev. Tannehill led in prayer and the lecture followed. The silver offering, which was very generous, was for the fund of the Methodist Episcopal church.

TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE.

Many who have had no larger part or responsibility in the matter of insuring the success of the War Chest and the campaigns that preceded it than to contribute their share, have failed to realize the value of the services or the extent of the sacrifices of the members of the canvassing organization, which has had almost the same personnel in all of the campaigns.

The amount of thought, time and attention it has been necessary to give to planning and conducting the drives cannot be comprehended except by those who have borne the burden and heat of the day. The men of the city who constitute the organization membership are all busy men. They have their own or the enterprises of others to demand their energy and ability, hence the service they have rendered in behalf of the Liberty Loans, War Chest and other war-time drives, has simply meant that their individual duties and interests have been proportionately neglected. In the case of men who conduct their own business establishments the time given to the work of canvassing has resulted in an absolute loss. In some, in fact many, instances the sacrifice has been very considerable.

While the average citizen has appreciated the significance and meaning of these facts, and has encouraged the workers by a prompt, willing and cheerful response to their requests to have a part in raising the large sums of money for different and all worthy purposes, there are many persons who have given no consideration whatever to sacrifice that was being made in order to provide every facility for them to see their duty and perform it. Some citizens have been impatient, others rude in their reception of the canvassers and in a few isolated cases even insolent in their attitude, thereby making a by-no means pleasant task still more unpleasant.

Some of the solicitors may at times have been over-zealous or wanting in tact and discretion, and may have, under the stress of churlish rebuff, failed to completely exemplify the spirit of mutual helpfulness and coöperation upon which these campaigns have been founded. But such instances, which have been exceedingly rare, have never justified persons showing an utter lack of sympathy with the objects of the campaign, or their still greater lack of appreciation of the unselfish services the campaigners have been rendering. Through their efforts our community has been led to such a creditable comprehension of its obligations to the nation and its defenders that our achievements will be a source of pride to every patriotic and loyal citizen.

For attaining this distinction we have our earnest workers to thank. We will be inexcusably and unpardonably remiss and ungrateful if we fail or refuse to accord them a proper measure of the credit that is due.

LATEST FORM OF GERMAN PROPAGANDA.

There is apparently no end to the variety of forms German propaganda can take. The cessation of hostilities simply diverts the activities of the propagandists into new channels, but all to the same purpose, that of serving the ends of Germany and the Germans.

The latest form this activity has assumed, or rather to which more energy is being directed, is the continuation of efforts earlier made to arouse discord between the Allies, causing them to become suspicious of each other's motives or actions with a view to bringing about a situation that will work to Germany's benefit in softened peace terms. That we need to be on guard against this is the caution of Frank Simonds, the war critic, who says:

Now, this is all false; but is is more than false. It is poisonous; it leads straight to quarrels with the French and the British, and quarrels of our own making. It seems like an attempt to discredit our allies in advance, that American sentiment may be roused against them in the event that they decline to accept as commands American suggestions at the Peace Congress. It is instinct with the idea that we Americans have the right to impose our ideas upon our allies and that any difference of opinion is proof of lower morality on their part.

Such a spirit is the beginning of discord. It leads straight to the destruction of that friendship which the war has created between America and the rest of the civilized nations.

Whatever may be said, done or suggested that can be construed as not in accord with the vital necessity of the United States and the Allies standing together on the terms of peace, is in furtherance of the German propaganda which has for its object the estrangement of the nations which have fought and conquered because of their united strength and purpose. Against such efforts to lessen our faith in our Allies Americans must set themselves as firmly as they did against those forms of pro-Germanism that were designed to weaken our faith in the ability of our "raw soldiers" to vanquish the boasted "invincibles" of the Prussian legions.

The death of Henry Kurtz removes another of Connellsville's pioneer merchants and highly esteemed citizens. His passing makes another gap in that "thin line of blue" which is fast losing in numbers and strength under the assaults of the only foe against which it has been unable to hold its ground. His answer to the last roll-call cannot fail to remind the home-coming heroes of '17-'18 that they have become heirs to the heritages bequeathed them by the rapidly dwindling host of '61-'65, and that upon them rests the solemn obligation to take their places in the ranks of soldier-citizens with the same willingness that they all became citizen-soldiers.

This is another of the days when Connellsville tops Uniontown by "going over the top" on the War Chest drive.

The latest forecast is that Brest will go Democratic today.

Today, Friday, December 13, will be the luckiest of all days upon which to make your Christmas purchases.

With Senator Sproul in the governor's chair after January 21, and a Republican Congress in control after March 4, Republicans of the state and the nation will once more come into their own, and factions and sections consigned where they belong.

Buy early or repent when too late.

This is the day when France will make another and no doubt the most graceful of her gestures to the United States.

Again impatient communities join in asking, When does the demobilization of "Deserving Democrats" in soft war jobs begin?

"Wee, wee, Woodrow!"

New Governor's Policy.

Harrisburg Telegraph.

Senator Sproul, the governor-elect, is indicating in every utterance a definite purpose to give Pennsylvania a constructive administration from start to finish. His long public service fits him for the work ahead and the reconstruction period furnishes an opportunity for the exercise of the qualities of mind and heart which have made the next governor an ideal public servant.

In a recent interview he has made clear his purpose and determination to demand intelligent service rather than political skill as a prerequisite for all who will have a part in making the Sproul administration worth while. He is said to be seeking big men for the big jobs which are to be filled and the people of the state will wish him well in these selections.

Senator Sproul is particularly interested in public works, and, starting with the construction of a comprehensive highway system with which his name has been long associated, he proposes in every way to promote the various important projects which have been considered from time to time, but which were laid aside during the period of the war. It is certain that he will have the support of all good citizens without regard to party in these endeavors and his familiarity with political maneuvering will enable him to avoid many of the errors which too often hinder the constructive work of many public officials.

While the approaching session of legislature will likely be short, the governor-elect will come into office with definite plans as to what he wants accomplished and there is no doubt whatever that the overwhelming Republican majority in the Senate and House will make it possible for him to achieve what he has set out to do and which will be outlined clearly in his inaugural message

Rippling Rhymes

END OF HATING.

My heart is full of joy and mirth, I do not hate a soul on earth. Before the armistice was signed, hate of the Teuton filled my mind; I hated everything that bore the German trade mark, more and more. Alas, the hate I used to feel, before and after every meal! And when to bed I journeyed late, I'd lie awake and hate and hate; I thought that I should never live to see the time when I'd forgive the cruel Hun of evil works, the Bulgars and the beastly Turks. I don't forgive them even yet; I won't make any Treat my pet, or carry lilies, pure and pale, to any Hun who is in jail. My aunt shall not become the bride of any Turk with sallow hide. I'm willing that the Turk and Hun may have forgiveness—when it's won; but years must pass in solemn train before they can our trust regain. Now I don't hate them any more; I've found that hatred is a bore. The tyrants taken in his sign; he goes his way and I go mine; and if I hated him by days, and hating passed the night away, I couldn't add an ounce, I trow, to that huge load he's bearing now.

THE GIFT HE BOUGHT FOR MOTHER.

Times arent just what they use to be; we've somehow traveled on
And left behind a lot of joys we miss now they are gone.
Here's Christmas coming back again, when loved ones greet each other,
And we've no big and grand surprise arranged and planned for mother.

In those glad years of happier days we whispered secrets deep,
And kept the baby out of them We'd found he couldn't keep.
For weeks and weeks, the way we did, our long-selected token;
Whenever he had shared the plot, our faith in him he'd broken.

The gift for mother had to set our meagre purses groaning—
Something she'd wished she might possess, yet never dreamed of owning;
Something she held beyond our means, and yet had seemed to crave for;
No easy thing to buy, but one we had to work and save for.

And oh, the joy that thrilled us all at last when we possessed it,
And wondered, with it stored away, if she perchance had guessed it.
And oh, the joy of Christmas day, and oh, that glorious minute,
As she received that box of love and wondered what was in it!

We miss that cry of sweet surprise, we miss those tears of gladness
Through which he saw our gift of love. Now Christmas brings us sadness.
For we are buying little gifts to give to one another,
But we've no big and grand surprise arranged and planned for mother.

Resolutions of Respect.

Stauffer, Pa., Dec. 6, 1918.

At a regular meeting of Carnation Council No. 200, S. and D. of L., held Tuesday evening, December 3, the following resolutions were approved:

Whereas, It has pleased God in His infinite wisdom and everlasting power to call from earth our esteemed sister, Sara Hebenthal, and

Whereas, Our worthy sister gave up her life in the bloom of youth, therefore be it

Resolved, That while our sorrow is naught to be compared with that of the husband and children, we have the satisfaction of knowing that she died a true and loving wife and mother. We therefore commend them for consolation to Him who rules the destinies of the world and in His divine wisdom doeth all things for the best, and be it further

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning for a period of 30 days, that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our lodge, that they be published in The Connellsville Courier, and that a copy be presented to the husband and children of the deceased sister.

WEAKNESS REMAINS LONG AFTER Influenza

Reports Show That Strength, Energy and Ambition Return Very Slowly to Grippe Patients.

After an attack of influenza, doctors advise that nature be assisted in its building-up process by the use of a good tonic—one that will not only put strength and endurance into the body, but will also help to build up and strengthen the run-down cells of the brain.

One of the most highly recommended remedies to put energy into both body and brain is Bio-feren—your physician knows the formula—it is printed below.

There's iron in Bio-feren—the kind of iron that makes red blood corpuscles and creates vigor. There is lecithin also; probably the best brain invigorator known to science. Then there is good old reliable gentian, that brings back your lagging appetite.

There are other ingredients that help to promote good health, as you can see by reading this formula, not forgetting kolo, that great agent that puts the power of endurance into weak people.

Taken altogether Bio-feren is a splendid active tonic that will greatly help any weak, run-down person to regain normal strength, energy, ambition and endurance.

Bio-feren is sold by all reliable druggists and is inexpensive. For weakness after influenza patients are advised to take two tablets after each meal and one at bed time—seven a day, until health, strength and vigor are fully restored.

It will not fail to help you and if for any reason you are dissatisfied with results your druggist is authorized to return your money upon request—without any red tape of any kind.

Note to physicians: There is no secret about the formula of Bio-feren, it is printed on every package. Here it is: Lecithin; Calcium Glycero-phosphate; Iron Peptonate, Manganese Peptonate; Ext. Nux. Vomica; Powdered Gentian; Phenolphthalein; Oleoresin Capsicum, Kolo.

A Great Stock Reducing Sale

This is our semi-annual inventory month and as usual there is going to be a lot of very special bargains. Stocks of many winter lines are heavy; mild weather, the influenza epidemic, and other obstructions have had very bad effect on our business. It is therefore necessary to take some special action to reduce our large stocks. It is a good time now to buy your winter supplies of clothing. Attention of the women is particularly called to our special bargains, attractive styles of women's misses', and children's coats; attention of women is further called to the beautiful styles in shirt waists, skirts, sweaters, large lines of underwear—union or two piece; hosiery, and all other women's, misses', and children's furnishings. Attention of men is called particularly to our superb line of clothing, our general assortment of gloves, hats, caps, underwear, and shoes. For women there are many novelties in these lines suitable for Christmas presents. The prices are as attractive as the styles, reasonable, moderate, fair. We feel quite sure in making this statement that the Union Supply Company stores, every department, can save you money on your Christmas shopping.

SPANISH INFLUENZA MORE DEADLY THAN WAR

Said That Epidemic Cost More Lives Than American Loss in Battle. Danger Not Over. Great Care Necessary to Prevent Further Outbreak.

The appalling ravages of Spanish Influenza in this country are perhaps best realized by the statement recently made, that more deaths have resulted in little more than a month from this disease than through our whole eighteen months participation in the battles of the European War

Our greatest danger now, declare authorities, is the great American tendency to forget easily and to believe the peril is over Competent authorities claim the coming of cold weather is very apt to bring a return of this disease and there should be no let-up throughout the winter months of the following easily observed precautions, remembering that influenza is far easier to prevent than cure

Influenza is a crowd disease Avoid crowds as much as possible Influenza germs spread when ignorant or careless persons sneeze or cough without using a handkerchief. Cover up each cough or sneeze Do not spit on the floor, sidewalk in street cars or public places Avoid the use of common drinking cups and roller towels in public places Breathe some reliable germicidal and antiseptic air to destroy the germs that do find lodgement in your nose and throat.

Remember no safer precaution against influenza could be employed in this manner than to get from the nearest drug store a complete Hyomei Outfit consisting of a bottl of the Pure oil of Hyomei and a little vest-pocket hard rubber inhaling device into which a few drops of the oil are poured You should carry this Inhaler about with you during the day and each half hour or so put it in your mouth and draw deep breaths of its pure healing germ killing air into the passages of your nose, throat and lungs

By destroying germs before they actually begin work in your blood, you may make yourself practically immune to infection.

All these suggestions about Spanish Influenza are equally true in the prevention of colds catarrh of nose and throat, bronchitis and even pneumonia. Don't become careless Do your part. Keep the germs away. You may save yourself a serious illness and the loss of several weeks work A. A. Clarke —Adv.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE IN STORM AT SEA IS RELATED IN LETTER FROM F. J. CUNEO

Transport Carrying 4,000 Yankees Helpless For a Night and a Day.

DRIFTS FAR FROM COURSE

Cuneo, on Duty as Lookout in "Crow's Nest," Has Most Unpleasant Time; Convoy it Attacked by Submarine But Pirate Craft is Blown to Pieces.

The story of a terrific storm which disabled the transport Mercury which drifted helpless for 300 miles and of the dire peril of 4,000 soldiers aboard and of a battle with a submarine which was blown up is told in the following letter from F. J. Cuneo to his sister, Miss Jennie Cuneo of East Crawford avenue, dealing with events of almost a year ago.

"Now that the censorship is lifted to a certain extent I will tell you about our trip across. We left Camp Devens one afternoon in January, arriving in New York the next morning. We went to Hoboken, N. J., on a ferryboat and straight up the gang-plank of the transport Mercury, formerly a German liner named the Barbarossa. This boat carried 4,000 men. It was my first time on a big boat. You can imagine how excited I was. As soon as we were on board the commander ordered everyone into bunks.

"The commander of the ship began an explanation about submarines and the rules we were to obey. We had blue lights and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon all were put out and no smoking was allowed. Well, after we received that lecture we laid for two days and the night of the second day (January 3) and just about 10 bells pulled out of the harbor and laid there until the following night. Just about midnight we could hear the anchor pulled up and everyone said 'We're off.'

"From the first day we got aboard until we were five days out we were not allowed on deck. Everyone got to see the Statue of Liberty, and, believe me, when I get to see it again I'll be ready to swim the rest of the way to New York.

"Well, about the 14th day out, about five bells, we saw a bunch of little boats in the distance. They were destroyers coming to meet us. The transport America was with us and also a battleship. The battleship was in front and the two transports in the rear. When we met the destroyers the battleship turned back to bring another bunch over. There were four destroyers, two to each boat. The transports could travel only about 22 miles an hour while the destroyers could speed up to 30 miles. Well, the little boats would keep circling round us all the time.

"The night of the 14th day out we hit a storm, breaking the rudder. We didn't know anything of it until the next morning when we came on deck—that is, the ones that were able, for the boat was surely rocking. We couldn't see the other transport or the destroyers. The waves were tossing our boat about every way for the rudder being broken the transport was helpless. Well, I had my rosary beads in my hands from morning to night.

"The orders were not to have any one above deck. For me, I was on guard duty that day up in the 'crow's nest.' Talk about being sick and scared. I can't explain. With the boat rocking and tossing and I on top of the pole, high in the air, I thought many a time the pole was going to hit the water. I would look down on the deck and see the sailors going back and forth with their life belts and a rope tied to them for safety in case they were washed overboard. My duty in the 'crow's nest' was to watch for submarines. I had to report every hour. As truly as I tell you the waves I saw that day were as large as three houses like ours, one upon another. All day long they were sending wireless calls for help and about eight bells that night out lost boats came to the rescue. We got the rudder fixed and everything was all right, outside of being driven about 300 miles from our course. By this time the storm had died down and everything was calm.

"I'll surely remember that trip as long as I live. The next day the sun shone brightly and I was on deck recuperating, or trying to recuperate, when a sailor came up to me and said 'You look a little sick, Jack.' I said 'Yes, and if you were riding on the top of that pole yesterday you would have been in the same fix.' He only laughed, but said he had been in the Navy four years and that that was the worst storm he had ever experienced, and further that we had not known the danger we were in; that he had given up hope of ever seeing land again.

"The next morning we were awakened by cannonading. The submarine alarm was sounded. When this is sounded every man runs to his raft. I forgot to tell you about it; it is called the raft drill. We had this drill twice every day across. Six men are assigned to a raft and when the order is given to get overboard six men jump, holding the raft. Well the day we spied the submarine we were all ready with the rafts waiting for the order 'overboard.' You may imagine what was going through my mind at that time.

"The battle was between two of the destroyers and the sub and about a mile off, and we didn't see much of it. All of a sudden there was a big explosion. A shell from one of the destroyers hit the sub right on the nose.

"Well, we were 18 days on the water, and landed at Nazaire while the other transport docked at Brest. It surely was an exciting trip. I will have to close. Pat and I are in the best of health, waiting patiently for the day to come when we will get orders to pack up for 'over there.'"

The letter was written November 22. It bore a censor stamp.

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obstinate Case of Piles in Few Days.

For years it has been proved that so-called external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cannot cure piles, and at the best can only give temporary relief. Surgical operations also do not remove this cause, but simply the formation.

This wonderful prescription, known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years' standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed, never to return.

Just read what Henry J. Stone of the Lorain, Ohio, Fire Department says:

"I had bleeding and protruding piles for three years and tried all kinds of remedies without result, but was thoroughly cured after taking one bottle of Miro."

Frank J. Phillips of Bird Island, Minnesota, says:

"I used half a bottle of Miro. It worked like a charm. I no longer suffer with bleeding and protruding piles. I never regretted the money for such blessing as I am now enjoying. I would have used the whole bottle but it was not necessary."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely its worth the little trouble to obtain it to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. For sale by the Connellsville Drug Co.—Adv.

Confluence.

CONFLUENCE, Dec. 12.—Everybody is cordially invited to the rededication of the Lutheran church next Sunday. Services in morning and evening. Dr. Rev. L. P. Young of Salisbury will be in attendance. Rev. C. W. Baker is pastor.

Mrs. T. G. Begge went to Connellsville yesterday to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Humbert left yesterday for a visit with friends in Pittsburg.

Mrs. B. C. Shipley has returned from a visit with friends in Connellsville.

Mrs. Charles Stark and daughter, Ethel, were shopping and visiting friends in Connellsville yesterday.

Mrs. H. V. Prince and Mrs. P. E. Trecent of Fort Hill were shopping and visiting friends in town yesterday.

Charles R. McMullen of Listonburg was a business visitor in town yesterday while on his way to his home from Connellsville.

Ray Show, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Show, who was in camp in Alabama for several months, returned home yesterday.

Not long ago a thrilling feat of bravery was exhibited by one of our boys, who charged a trench alone and captured many. Other things being equal—the strongest men survive and that is why our army surgeons are careful to pick out the men with good lung expansion, keen eyes, and good liver and kidneys. Our men on the firing line represent the pick of American youth. One in four of our boys at home was rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame, but such conditions can now be overcome.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that we should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then procure at the nearest drug store Anuric (double strength). This Anuric drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism, as well as kidney trouble.

If you want a trial package, send Doctor Pierce ten cents.

ROYERSFORD, PA.—"I had pains in my back and kidneys and the excretion was blood-like. I got Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets—am using the third bottle—and have received wonderful results. Water is as clear as crystal. Dr. Pierce's are wonderful medicines.

"We also have the book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. Pierce, and find it a great help."—J. S. Moxam, 222 Washington St.

Better Iron It.

The other morning little Helen was watching mother press one of her coats. Helen asked why this had to be done. Mother said to get the wrinkles out. Later mother was sitting on the porch with Helen in a large reed rocker. The impression of the reed on mother's arm wrinkled it a great deal. Helen seeing this exclaimed: "Mamma, look at your arm! Don't you think you had better iron it?"

THE PARAMOUNT

"FRIEND HUSBAND."—A Goldwyn production in which Madge Kennedy sparkles and shines in her own individual way, is today's feature attraction. Miss Kennedy is seen in the role of Dorothy, a girl who considers her sister a slave to tie herself down to domestic drudgery. Dorothy is strong for the freedom of her sex, but when her grandmother's will is read she learns that she must marry in order to inherit a fortune. Accordingly her lawyer is instructed to advertise for a young man willing to enter into a marriage in name only for a monetary consideration. Visiting the lawyer's office Dorothy meets a young man who she assumes is an applicant. He is really a man of fortune, the son of the lawyer's friend. Don falls in love with Dorothy's plan and they are married. His rich gifts prove to her that he isn't poor after all. The deception angers Dorothy, and on the honeymoon, which he insists on beginning, she tries to escape, but Don assures sympathetic bystanders that his wife is insane and he is regarded with pity. Don takes her by force to an island where the trembling bride is forced to remain. She is bitter against her husband and treats him with frozen contempt. He later proves himself a hero and wins her love. A selected comedy is also being presented.

THE SOISSON.

"REVELATION."—A seven act Metro special production, starring the great Nazimova, is being shown today. The picture provides the famous star with a role that demands the full sweep of her abilities. As the Parisian grizette, whose soul is laid bare in this gripping story, Nazimova is gay and fascinating, capricious and wilful as a summer storm, cold and calm one minute, tender and pure with the serenity of an Arctic sunshine the next. The more powerful the play, the more marked has always been the triumph of this wonderful actress. An ultra-Bohemian Parisian cafe of the Latin quarter was built in the Metro studio for "Revelation." The spacious settings represent "The Cabaret of the Three Delights," wine, women and song. "Revelation" is a mighty drama of the screen, based on a powerful story that reaches the heights of sublimity and descends to the profoundest depths of the human heart. In the picture the great Russian at last has a vehicle worthy of her genius. Charles Bryant, who appeared with Nazimova in "War Brides," plays opposite her in "Revelation." A selected comedy is also being shown. Both attractions will be repeated tomorrow. Monday Emmy Wehlen will be seen in a splendid Metro feature.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headaches, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

Nature's Plan.

Nature, the meditative man of the world seems to say, has no necessary contact with pain, and yet willingly assumes the burden. The great physician's answer seems to be: "Stay your wonder: it is this very pain, this apparent inconsistency of nature, that brings out man's supremest qualities of virtue and knowledge, making him a veritable god."

A PITTSBURG LADY WANTS EVERYONE TO KNOW ABOUT IT

Mrs. M. P. Garrison Says Ten-Herbs Relieved Her of Stomach Trouble.

That Ten Herbs is repeating its success here is proven by the large number of local testimonials received daily from people whose signed statements telling of the benefit they have derived from its use. Not a day passes but what numbers of Pennsylvania people call at the headquarters at The Ten Herbs Store to thank him for what the remedy has done for him.

Only the other day Mr. M. P. Garrison who resides at No. 4618 Liberty avenue and is a well known and popular lady with a wide acquaintance in Pittsburg made the following statement.

"For the past 10 years I have suffered with my stomach. I was bloated with gas could not sleep at night and felt all played out. I had pains in my back and was very short of breath—had severe palpitation of the heart, caused by the gas in my system. I was very nervous and was always constipated. I had taken a number of different medicines without any real benefit and finally decided to try Ten-Herbs. Now I have a fine appetite, sleep well and have no more indigestion or gas in my stomach. I feel greatly relieved in every way."

Such words as these and those of many others which have been printed have wide influence for they come from people of standing and integrity who have given Ten Herbs a fair trial and have been greatly benefited thereby.

Ten-Herbs is purely a vegetable preparation extracted from the roots herbs barks berries and fibres of numerous medicinal plants. It is nature's own remedy and works wonders. It gives almost immediate relief in practically every case where people suffer as above outlined.

Ten Herbs is sold in Connellsville at the Connellsville Drug Co's Store.

20 YRS. YOUNGER ASSERTS WOMAN DUE TO TANLAC

Marie Schulz Tells of Remarkable Recovery Through Using Master Medicine.

"I feel twenty years younger and sleep like a log when I go to bed," said Marie Schulz of Gantham street, North side Pittsburg, Pa., since I began to take Tanlac.

"I had suffered for a long time with rheumatism, gas in my stomach, shortness of breath and my bowels were always giving me trouble.

"I often went for days at a time without sleeping because of my terrible nervous condition.

"So I got a bottle. I had no idea I would get such quick relief. After I had taken about half a bottle the rheumatic pains left my limbs. My stomach got so good that I could eat my meals and never feel bad afterward. My bowels go regular. When I would lie down at night my head would hardly touch the pillow until I would be fast asleep. When I awakened in the morning I felt rested and could hardly believe it was myself.

"Since I have been taking Tanlac I have not been troubled with gas pressing up against my heart. I eat what I please, I go out among the neighbors and visit them and my friends and if I want to go to a theater I go and have a nice time. I never am afraid of being sick any more."

Tanlac is now sold in Connellsville exclusively by the Connellsville Drug Co., Brightley's Pharmacy and T. H. Harmening, where the premier preparation can be had.—Adv.

The moment the razor touched his face the man in the chair realized that he was in the hands of an amateur. "Will you have a close shave, sir?" asked the barber. The Brunswick

Plays All Records at Their Best

The Unselfish Gift

No other gift can bring such all-'round pleasure to so many people as The Brunswick Phonograph. The entire family and all one's friends can participate in this enjoyment.

It is for this reason so many people choose The Brunswick as a Christmas gift—and why so many families "pool" their Christmas money; so that all gain far more satisfaction than in receiving small, individual presents.

The tendency this Christmas is "a worth while present for all" rather than a "knick-knack for each."

The Brunswick is an ideal choice. It will prove an ever-present delight for years to come. This super-phonograph plays all records as they should be played—the tone is superb. Hear it today. Decide early. Avoid the rush later.

LET US PLAY THE BRUNSWICK FOR YOU.

Open Evenings Until Xmas.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If you nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffing, blowing, no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

FRANCE PROJECTS GREAT RAILROAD WHEN PEACE COMES

An International Line to Extend from Bordeaux to Odessa; Other Huge Reconstruction Enterprises.

Numerous and gigantic enterprises are contemplated in France as measures of reconstruction to be undertaken as promptly as the transition from a state of war to peace will permit. In the exploiting of these it is anticipated Americans will have a large part. These projects include the reorganization and extension of railway steamship and canal routes and electric power plants and the elaboration of works at docks and ports.

Studies are being made of a plan for a great international railway route from Bordeaux to Odessa. There is also a committee studying the project of constructing a tunnel under the English Channel and another through the Vosges mountains west of Alsace.

Full reports will be received soon from committees formed of leading engineers, manufacturers and shippers which have been giving attention to the plans under consideration.

The announcement that the French government was studying plans for the international railway route to Odessa from Bordeaux is a step toward the realization of the idea of a horizontal route across Europe connecting the great commercial cities. This route had long been contemplated but thus is the first practical measure toward accomplishment of the project. The general line follows the forty-fifth parallel of latitude which links a chain of cities between the Atlantic and Russia through territory that as a whole was favorable to the Allied cause.

The projected line runs from Bordeaux to Lyons thence to Milan, Venice and Trieste thence by way of the Save valley to Agram the Jugo Slav center and thence to Belgrade Bucharest and Odessa. Most of the railway links in this chain are already constructed but they are under various administrations and there are unfinished links chiefly across Jugo-Slav districts.

He Was Impressed

"Was the sermon today to your liking John?" inquired the pastor. "Indeed sir it was a grand sermon," said John with genuine admiration. "What part seemed to take hold of you?"

"Well now since you ask me I'll tell you. What took hold of me most was your perseverance—the way you went over the same thing again and again and again."—Christian Herald.

The man who, in accordance with his means — of which he is the sole judge—refuses to back these accredited organizations of patriotic and humanitarian effort with his dollars—it is a hard thing to say but—it seems to me he has a sham patriotism and sham sympathy and when he meets a soldier he ought to cross to the other side of the street.—Judge E. "CASH IN" The Cheers & Hurrahs of November 11th

Make the final days of the war chest campaign a glorious, smashing "over the top" performance.

Fill the $600,000 cheer fund to overflowing - - - DO IT, why man alive, we'll do anything for those gallant fighters over there!

The work of the Red Cross must go on; it heads the War Chest list, and when you subscribe more than $1.00 to the War Chest you are enrolled as a member of the Red Cross.

As long as there are misery and sickness and destitution in the war-befouled areas of Europe—as long as there are Americans under arms across the sea, the need for the Red Cross exists—

That work must not stop—it must not even slow up.

The work of the Red Cross over here must likewise go on. Nearly one hundred great disasters have called upon the Red Cross in recent years and found it ready. You remember the Halifax disaster; the San Francisco earthquake; the Titanic disaster; the Triangle Waist Co. fire; the Perth Amboy explosion; the Galveston flood; the Eastland wreck; the Messina earthquake and the recent terrible influenza epidemic.

The Red Cross brings medical and surgical and nursing help to sick and wounded. It provides quick relief for the destitute. It arranges pensions for widows left by disaster without support, and schooling for their children. It sends officers to identify bodies at distant points when the victims' relatives are too poor to go themselves.

Again the Red Cross heads the list of the War Chest organizations. The War Chest provides for the county's share in supporting each of these organizations for all of 1919; when the War Chest is filled to overflowing you will have no further calls during 1919 for these organizations.

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS

They are our sons and brothers; flesh of our flesh. We have sent them across the sea to fight---but we are determined that they should know that the people at home are fighting with them, standing with them, shoulder to shoulder.

--J. Cardinal Gibbons

"America in this war has done what no other nation has ever done," says Cardinal Gibbons. She has carried the presence, the atmosphere of home into the camps across the seas, that everywhere the soldier may realize that there are fatherly hands to help him, motherly hands to console him, friendly hands to entertain him.

Cardinal Gibbons was speaking especially of the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Salvation Army, the War Camp Community Service, the Jewish Welfare Board and the American Library Association, to which organizations is added the Red Cross in making up the Fayette County War Chest.

Continuing, Cardinal Gibbons says of this great appeal:

"All these organizations now stand upon one platform—that of providing recreation, entertainment and home comfort for our troops. From that common platform, all, together with one voice, make a single appeal to the American people."

"We cannot shirk it. We cannot shift it. To attempt to do so would be to prove false to the men who gave their bodies and their lives for the national safety.

"It is an American campaign. It's appeal is one that no American may refuse

"The entire Catholic body of the country is organized to crown this campaign with victory. Every diocese has harnessed its resources, and will give the utmost service."

THE LIGHT IN THE CLEARING

A TALE OF THE NORTH COUNTRY IN THE TIME OF SILAS WRIGHT

By

IRVING BACHELLER

AUTHOR OF
EBEN HOLDEN DRI AND I DARREL OF THE BLESSED ISLES, KEEPING UP WITH LIZZIE, ETC., ETC

COPYRIGHT PRENTICE-HAWTHORN, IRVING BACHELLER

He told how he had heard that it was a growing country near the great water highway of the St Lawrence. Prosperous towns were building up in it There were going to be great cities in Northern New York There were rich stores of lead and iron in the rocks Mr Barnes had bought two hundred acres at ten dollars an acre. He had to pay a fee of five per cent. to Grimshaw's lawyer for the survey and the papers. This left him owing fourteen hundred dollars on his farm—much more than it was worth.

Our cousin twisted the poker in his great hands until it squeaked as he stood before my uncle and said

"My wife and I have chopped and burnt and pried and mauled rocks an' shoveled dung an' milked an churned until we are worn out For almost twenty years we've been workin' days an' nights an Sundays Mr mortgage was over due I owed six hundred dollars on it. I thought it all over one day an' went up to Grimshaw's an took him by the back of the neck and shook him He said he would drive me out o' the country He gave me six months to pay up I had to pay or lose the land I got the money on the note that you signed over in Potsdam Nobody in Canton would a dared to lend it to me"

"Why? my uncle asked

"Fraid o' Grimshaw He didn't want me to be able to pay it The place is worth more than six hundred dollars now—that's the reason I intended to cut some timber an haul it to the village this winter so I could pay a part o the note an' get more time as I told ye but the roads have been so bad I couldn't do any haulin'"

My uncle went and took a drink at the water pail I saw by his face that he was unusually wrought up

My heavens an' earth he exclaimed as he sat down again

It's the brain colic I said to myself as I looked at him

Mr Barnes seemed to have it also

"Too much note" I whispered

"I'm awful sorry, but I've done everything I could said Mr Barnes

"Ain't there somebody that I take another mortgage?—it ought to be safe now my uncle suggested

"Money is so tight it can't be done The bank has got all the non v an' Grimshaw owns the bank I've tried and tried but I'll make you safe I'll give you a mortgage until I can turn round"

So I saw how Rodney Barnes like other settlers in Lickitysplit had gone into bondage to the landlord

"How much do you owe on this place?" Barnes asked

"Seven hundred an' fifty dollars" said my uncle

"Is it due?

"It's been due a year an if I have to pay that note I'll be short my interest"

"God o' Israel" I'm scairt said Uncle Peabody

Down crashed the stick of wood into the box

"What about?"

"It would be like him to put the screws on you now You've got between him an' his prey You've taken the mouse away from the cat"

I remember the little panic that fell on us then I could see tears in the eyes of Aunt Deel as she sat with her head leaning wearily on her hand

"If he does I'll do all I can" said Barnes "whatever I've got will be yours"

Rodney Barnes left us and I remember how Uncle Peabody stood in the middle of the floor and whistled the merriest tune he knew

"Stand right up here" he called in his most cheerful tone "Stand right up here before me both o' ye"

I got Aunt Deel by the hand and led her toward my uncle We stood facing him. "Stand straighter" he demanded "Now altogether One, two, three, ready—sing"

He beat time with his hand in imitation of the singing master at the poorhouse and we joined him in singing an old tune which began "Oh, keep my heart from sadness, God."

This irresistible spirit of the man bridged a bad hour and got us off to bed in fairly good condition

A few days later the note came due and its owner insisted upon full payment There was such a clamor for money those days I remember that my aunt had sixty dollars which she had saved, little by little, by selling eggs and chickens She had planned to use it to buy a tombstone for her mother and father—a long cherished ambition My uncle needed the most of it to help pay the note We drove to Potsdam on that sad errand and what a time we had getting there and back in deep mud and sand and jolting over corduroys'

"Bert," my uncle said the next evening as I took down the book to read I guess we'd better talk things over a little tonight. These are hard times If we can find anybody with money enough to buy 'em I dunno but we better sell the sheep"

"If you hadn't been a fool" my aunt exclaimed with a look of great distress—"ayes! if you hadn't been a fool"

"I'm just what I be, an' I ain't so big a fool that I need to be reminded of it" said my uncle.

"I'll stay home an' work," I proposed bravely.

"You ain't old enough for that," sighed Aunt Deel

I want to keep you in school" said Uncle Peabody who sat making a splint broom

While we were talking in walked Benjamin Grimshaw—the rich man of the hills He didn't stop to knock, but walked right in as if the house were his own It was common gossip at us I held a mortgage on every acre of the countryside. I had never liked him for he was a stern-eyed man who was always scolding somebody and I had not forgotten what his son had said of him

"Good night" he exclaimed curtly, as he set down and set his cane between his feet and rested his hands upon it. He spoke hoarsely and I remember the curious notion came to me that he looked like our old ram He wore a thin gray beard under his chin His mouth was shut tight in a long line curving downward a little at the ends My uncle used to say that his mouth was made to keep his thoughts from leaking and going to waste He had a big body a big chin a big mouth a big nose and big ears and hands His eyes lay small in this setting of bigness

"Why Mr Grimshaw it's years since you've been in our house—ayes said Aunt Deel.

"I suppose it is" he answered rather sharply "I don't have much time to get around I have to work There's some people seem to be able to git along without it. I see you've got one o these newfangled stoves" he added as he looked it over "Huh! Rich folks can have anything they want"

Uncle Peabody had sat splintering the long stick of yellow birch I observed that the jackknife trembled in his hand His tone had a touch of unnaturalness, proceeding no doubt from his fear of the man before him, as he said

"When I bought that stove I felt richer than I do now I had almost enough to settle with you up to date but I signed a note for a friend and had to pay it."

"Ayuh" I suppose so," Grimshaw answered in a tone of bitter irony which cut me like a knife blade young as I was "What business have you signin' notes an givin' away money which ain't yours to give—I'd like to know? What business have you actin' like a rich man when you can't pay yer honest debts? I'd like to know that, too?

If I've ever acted like a rich man it's been when I wa'n't lookin'," said Uncle Peabody

What business have you to go enlargin' yer family—takin another mouth to feed and another body to spin for? That costs money I want to tell you one thing Barnes you've got to pay up or git out o here"

He raised his cane and shook it in the air as he spoke

Oh I ain't no doubt o' that, said Uncle Peabody "You'll have to have yer money—that's sure, an you will have it if I live every cent of it. This boy is goin to be a great help to me—you don't know what a good boy he is and what a comfort he's been to us"

These words of my beloved uncle uncovered my emotions so that I put my elbow on the wood box and leaned my head upon it and sobbed.

I ain't goin' to be hard on ye, Barnes said Mr Grimshaw as he rose from his chair "I'll give ye three months to see what you can do I wouldn't wonder if the boy would turn out all right. He's a big an cordy of his age and a purty likely boy, they tell me

Mr Grimshaw opened the door and stood for a moment looking at us and added in a milder tone You've got one o the best farms in this town an' if ye work hard an use common sense ye ought to be out o debt in five years—mebbe less."

He closed the door and went away

Neither of us moved or spoke as we listened to his footsteps on the gravel path that went down to the road and to the sound of his buggy as he drove away Then Uncle Peabody broke the silence by saying

"He's the damdest—"

He stopped, set the half splintered stick aside closed his jackknife and went to the water pail to cool his emotions with a drink

Aunt Deel took up the subject where he had dropped it as if no-halt expressed sentiment would satisfy her, saying

"—old skinflint that ever lived in this world ayes! I ain't goin to hold my opinion o that man no longer, ayes! I can't It's too powerful—ayes'"

Having recovered my composure I repeated that I should like to give up school and stay at Lome and work

Aunt Deel interrupted me by saying

"I have an idea that Silo Wright will help us—ayes! He's comin' home an' you better go down an' see him—ayes! Hadn't ye?

"Bart an' I'll go down to morrer," said Uncle Peabody

JSTIFICATION FOR /AGE INCREASE TO AILROAD EMPLOYES

ys Chairman Sines of the Wages Board of R. R. Administration.

ORE ADVANCES COMING

Men Not Included in General Adjustment; Declared Purpose to "Fix Wages and Labor Conditions That Are Fair to Public and Employes."

In an address made a few days ago H. Sines, chairman of the Board of ilroad Wages and Working Conditions of the United States Railroad iministration, justified the increase wages amounting to $300,000,000 anually recently granted to railroad ployes, and intimated that further lvances would be made to large oups of men not taken care of in e general adjustment. Chairman nes said in part:

"Caused primarily by two reasons—sufficient wages in the pre-war perd and the rapidly mounting living sts—the railroads found themselves, wards the end of last year, faced by age demands aggregating approxiately $1,000,000,000 per year, and in dition to these pending demands, increases had been conceded during the ars of 1916 and 1917 amounting to bout $300,000,000 per year.

"These pending demands could not e met by the privately operated railoads, and therefore the nation's ransportation business was at the reaking point when the government ook over the railroads

"Here was a situation that would ermit of no delay in its solution if he transportation business was to be ept moving—if the war was to be on—and no one can question the patriotism of the railroad employes in demanding that the wage question be olved. A splendid testimonial to the ttitude of these workers is offered in he report of the Lane commission herein it is stated:

" 'That there has been such steadfast oyalty to the railroad, and so slight a disposition to use the lever of their necessity and their opportunity to compel by ruthless action an increase of wages, is not without significance and should not be passed without public recognition.'

"One of the first acts of Director General McAdoo was to appoint a commission to investigate into the matter of railroad wages and working conditions and to report thereon to the director general, who would therefrom determine what increases should be made.

"As a result of the Lane report, the director general added percentage increases based on wages in effect in December, 1915, which increases the operating costs per year approximately $300,000,000.

"The Lane report stated that 'It has been a somewhat popular impression that railroad employes were among the most highly paid workers. But figures gathered from the railroads disposed of this belief. Fifty-one per cent of all employes during December 1917, received $75 per month or less. And eighty per cent received $100 per month or less.'

"Since the pre-war wages upon which the Lane commission had based its increases were inadequate and inequitable, it was apparent to the director general that additional increases were immediately necessary and to the end that fair might be fairly worked out and in keeping with recommendations contained in the Lane report, the director general appointed a Board of Railroad Wages and Working Conditions of six members—three railroad officials and three officers of national labor organizations. Since this board began its work, on June first, based on its recommendations, the director general has issued five general supplemental wage orders and many others of local nature applying to about 1,700,000 employes, adding to the pay rolls approximately $250,000,000 per year in addition to the Lane increases.

"There are remaining over 650,000 employes who will be included in orders which will be issued in the near future and for whom possibly further increases will be added. Thus it will be seen that in the sum total approximately several hundred millions of dollars will be added to the operating costs as compared with the pre-war period and even after this immense amount of money has been added in wages, the wages of the railroad employes will be only fair and, generally speaking, materially less than that paid to workers in other industries where far less skill is required. The average increase in wages will be less than fifty per cent while the increase in living costs is over sixty-five per cent.

"The Railroad Administration's purpose is to fix wages and conditions of labor that are fair to the public and fair to the employes—the Administration feels that the just interests of both should be protected. The administration has endeavored to find a basis of wages for the railroad workers that can be maintained in the coming reconstruction period. The employes say that, having been loyal and patriotic, having not insisted that their wages should equal those of men no more skilled than they, their wages should not be reduced.
